Mankind has looked to the stars and has probed them. He has walked on the moon, one step in the progression of growing knowledge. He has achieved monumental goals, and the exploration continues. Still, he tries to explore the unknown, to reach outward, to expand his universe unceasingly.

These same ambitions grow at Loyola High School. Expanding our universe at Loyola encompasses involvement in all forms. It means working in the Loyola community and reaching out to the greater community, being "men for others." In the classroom and out, it means striving for artistic, athletic and academic excellence. It means looking inward to see what we really believe in. Exploring our universe means Loyola High School, a school that grows, that advances, that expands.

Whatever his nickname, he is still the same person, Father Charles R. Gagan, S.J., whose rapport with the students was more on a best friend to best friend relationship than a teacher to student level. Armed with understanding, love, and a mind full of one-liners, Father Gagan has lifted Loyola High School to new heights; and in a world where education is a faltering commodity, he has not lost sight of our priorities and standards of excellence.

This year, the El Camino staff dedicates the yearbook to him in his sixth year as principal. We thank him for his countless and mammoth contributions and wish him the very best of luck in all his future endeavors. He is truly a "man for others."

CHARLES FOSTER
"THE FANTOM"

The Prospective Black Businessmen's Association is a group of men who have come together for the purpose of advancing each one's inner and outer-self. The idea for such a club is in no way to be considered new. But the idea of starting one in a private school as a part of the regular club program is in a sense "revolutionary."

Being a part of the school's club program, the Association is entitled to the rights and assistance all other clubs have. Our Association can now use Xavier Center for presentations. Members can be recognized for their efforts in the Club. When being considered for school scholarships, now unlike before, people who have a gift in the field of sociology can have another outlet or even a more meaningful outlet than CAM.

We are realists and refuse to separate the world between the good guys and the bad guys. We believe in affirmative action toward realistic goals of achievement, and in everlasting determination toward respect, dignity, and a sense of Human Brotherhood. We will make a better life for ourselves, our family, our community, and the world.

FORUM for justice

Loyola challenges its students to grow and evolve as human beings in a Christian atmosphere. Awareness of the surrounding world plays a tremendous part in this growth, and the Forum for Justice provides this awareness. In its third year of publication under the leadership of the Christian Action Movement, the Forum gives students the opportunity to voice their opinions on relevant political and social issues. This expression of their beliefs contributes to the education of all students. The Forum for Justice deals with people and Christianity. It helps us to realize that there are others present in society who have problems and feelings — along with something positive to offer to the betterment of the world. Most of all, the Forum is about caring: students working together, sharing ideals and goals together, and striving for unity and equality among men.

IS SOUTH AFRICAN APARTHEID JUSTIFIED?

Con

Pro

The Solution: Majority Rule

By Andrew Nairi

On May 31, 1961, the nation of South Africa became a Republic maintaining an apartheid policy. Since Prime Minister Verster's National Party assumed power in the 1948 election, the nation of South Africa has been perpetuated and tethered to an oppressive and biased social doctrine of apartheid (separateness). In practice, that ill-fated African nation's 4.3 million whites, 18.6 million Bantus (Blacks), 2.5 million coloreds (mixed) and 750,000 Asians will function along separate lines of existence under the auspices of South Africa's obliging and benign government. In point of fact, apartheid has disenfranchised the Black majority, which has been persecuted under one of the most discriminatory systems of racial law ever in existence.

The Afrikaner (white) society, adhering to a rigid code of entity, claims to be Christian. Boasting a Dutch-based dialect and a religion of a Calvinistic strain, this forsaken white colony also possesses a warped and perverted dogma: the Black is a child of God who needs to be advised and led to civilization by the Afrikaner. In addition, the Afrikaner government has pushed legislation through parliament classifying the population by race, banning marriage and sex across the color line and imposing laws that have a strict regulation of Black movement. Thus, it simultaneously excludes Blacks from the political system and representation.

"PROSPERITY DOES NOT JUSTIFY EXPLOITATION."

Consequently, the entity existing superficially in Johannesburg erupted justifiably and further black student unrest inspired many riots in the sprawling black suburb of Soweto. Sporadic uprisings have also ignited across the country, taking more than 400 lives. Yet the Afrikaners refused to give the majority power — or at least a fraction of power and representation.

A Lesser of Two Evils

By Dan Street

In today's political world, it seems that demagogic politicians cause someone of being a racist or a bigot and instantly the accused person regarded as a VIP — glorified somewhere between Charles Manson and an A. Hitler. The Carter administration, via its foreign policy spokesman Andrew Young, has accused John Verster, South African government, such a matter. Since readily apparent that apartheid is racism, one can argue with the accusation. However, one can argue everything that follows that accusation. The "mic drop" of Carter Young tell us that apartheid is practiced in South Africa and because black majority has no franchise, Verster should distantly hand over the rule of government to a "majority" government. This tant demanding by Amer-

Radio club

The Radio Club strives to prepare its members to become certified radio operators. An informal atmosphere lets the students examine the radio field on their own and sophisticated equipment also lets the students actually talk on the air waves. Membership has dramatically increased due to Father Cooper's leadership.

COMPUTER club

Active members of the Computer Club this year were: Mark Ruckh, Greg Rude, Tony Baumgartner, John Dallie, Joe Martinetto, Larry Mareno, Tony Ramirez, Devon Terminello, Dan Reagan, Shanon Presby, Tom Fitzgerald, Cary Crawford, Nick Fischer, Robert Mika, Mark Mitchell, Berton Keith, Vince Mazzarella, Mike Pfeifer, Mark Schoenbaum, Gidas Peteris, Donald Lamourux, Frank Nickels, John Krawiec, Stuart Nixon, Mark Shinoda, Larry Dungea, Johnathan Eisenhower, John Lindner, Tim Roach, Chris Murray, David McDaniel, Johnathan Pregler, Fred Tinampay, Brendan O'Brien, Mike Dwyer, Kenneth Oda, Thomas Gandara, Robert Garcia, Miquel Ibarra, Arturo Herrera, Guillermo Ibarra, Bill Mountain, Dennis McNeil, Edwin Garcia, Richard Pete, Robert Michael, Jose Silva, Hugh Haggerty, Ken Fredrick, Peter Puhek, Francisco Pita, Michael Conant (president), and Fr. MATH club

Now in its fourth year, the growing Math Club has involved itself further in competitive activities. Despite setbacks last year, members have entered in different tournaments. Individuals also participated in a math field day for grade school students.

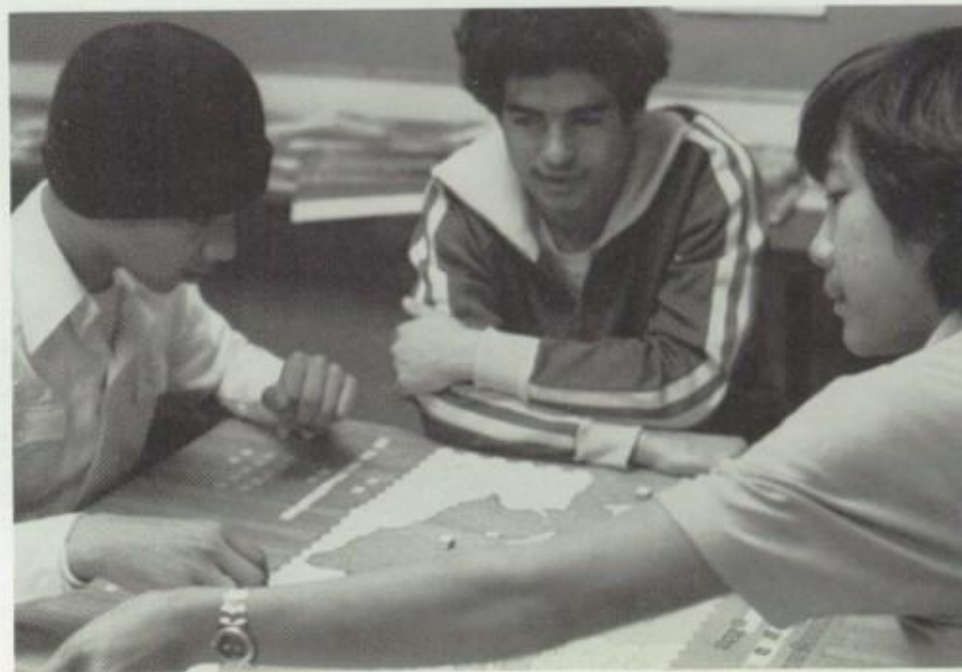

Active members of the Math Club this year were, from left: Sitting, P. Takata, K. Tse, M. Ruiz, J. Martinetto, and T. Roach. Standing, M. Whelan, J. Baumgartner, B. Itso, J. Pregler, I. Hata, D. Gerrard, Pat Whelan, president, and Mr. Langston, moderator.

military history

Despite a rocky past, the new Military History Club is still helping those who are interested in conflicts of civilizations. An unrestricted atmosphere, with Mr. Tom Goepel's moderating, freely encourages research into the past.

MONOGRAM club

The Monogram Club of Loyola High has always had as its purpose to be the service organization of our school. This year is no exception. With Father Bill Muller's organizing abilities, the Monogram members have assisted with entrance exams, the auction, and the Open House. During any school event they can be seen carefully directing traffic. To enter this institution, though, has not been easy. Members must have more than a C average and a varsity letter, and be in good standing. These requirements have helped make the Monogram Club the proud institution it now is.

(Standing) J. Burnham, C. Goolsby, S. Shatynski, C. Griffin, C. Baer, P. Boken, P. Szurley, B. Baca, J. Gowey, D. Brenton, H. Houze, R. Thompson, A. Henderson, and G. Harvey.

Monogram Club members, from left: Sitting, P. Hickey, P. Coquillard; P. Montgomery, M. Plourde, P. Hyan, M. Conley, and C. Roza-

Pereira. Standing, S. Butler, P. Whelan, M. Sanders, F. Tinampay, S. Sanchez, and M. Medina.

geology-paleontology

Now in its fourteenth year of continuous service, the Loyola Geology-Paleontology Society provides its members with films, informal lectures and field trips introducing Loyola students to the various fields of Earth Science. Under the direction of Brother Robert McDermott, S.J., the Society meets twice every week and offers field trips every two to three weeks.

The main activity of our club is the Geo-Science field trip, ranging in duration from one to twenty-four days. We travel, hike, camp, visit geological sights and collect minerals and fossils. We have traveled as far as Colorado, Canada and Mexico, although our main interest lies in the southwestern United States.

PEP club

The Pep Club is dedicated to instilling Loyola spirit into the students, and well it has done! The members have busily spent their days reminding all that Loyola is the best, and overnight trips to games show remarkable dedication. Their behind-the-scenes work, including the cheerleading squads' efforts, have brought Loyola High to an overall feverish pitch.

Casey Griffin and Jane King

Wally Burnham and Cathy Dunn
Head Cheerleaders

Layne Morey and Tracy Crowe

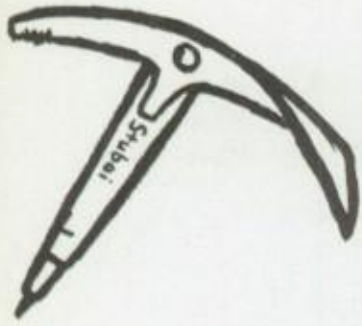

Steve Watson and Mary Beth R

backpacking

The Loyola Backpacking Club offers the outdoor-lovers a chance to find others of the same bent and to plan hiking and camping trips. With moderator Fr. John Brady, S.J., member frequently hike in the near-by Angelus National Forest, and there, there share their skills and experience to become better prepared climbers. The beauty of the mountain wilderness is experienced by the students, and thus, a love and greater appreciation of the outdoors is achieved.

SPEECH AND DEBATE

Always known as one of the most prestigious institutions of Southern California, the Loyola High School Speech and Debate Club has met all expectations. The teams participated not only in school-sponsored meetings, but also in independent tournaments and contests. Trips for the debates have ranged as far as New York and San Francisco.

STUDENT SERVICE

At the head of the new Student Service are the intramural commissioner, pep club coordinator, and social coordinator offices. With them, representatives of the student body and individual classes have planned social events and the school exchanges. They are involving even more students in the planning of important events for the future.

One new organization to Loyola High is the Flying Club, under the guidance of Mr. John Beckman. It is the purpose of this club to acquaint all who are interested with the aeronautic field, and to help them pass tests to become private pilots. The club president is Tony Baumgartner, who has used his FAA ground instructor's license to add vital experience.

Expansion of any kind begins as a freshman. For him, Loyola High School is an unknown. It is a new environment of strange faces and different teachers.

Still, the first advances towards growth in activities are made within the sports, the academic studies, and club participation.

Written by: The Mad Dialers

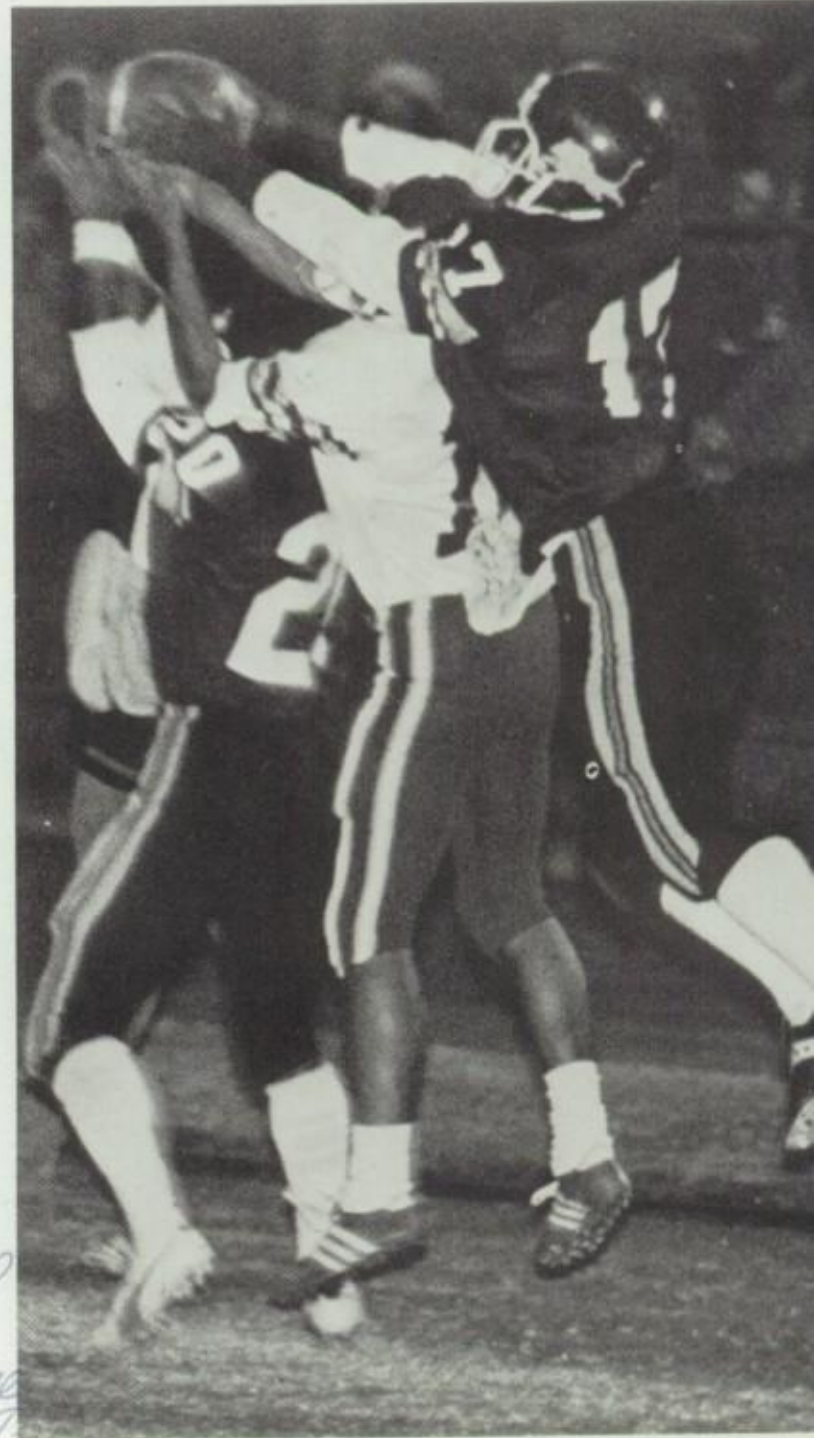

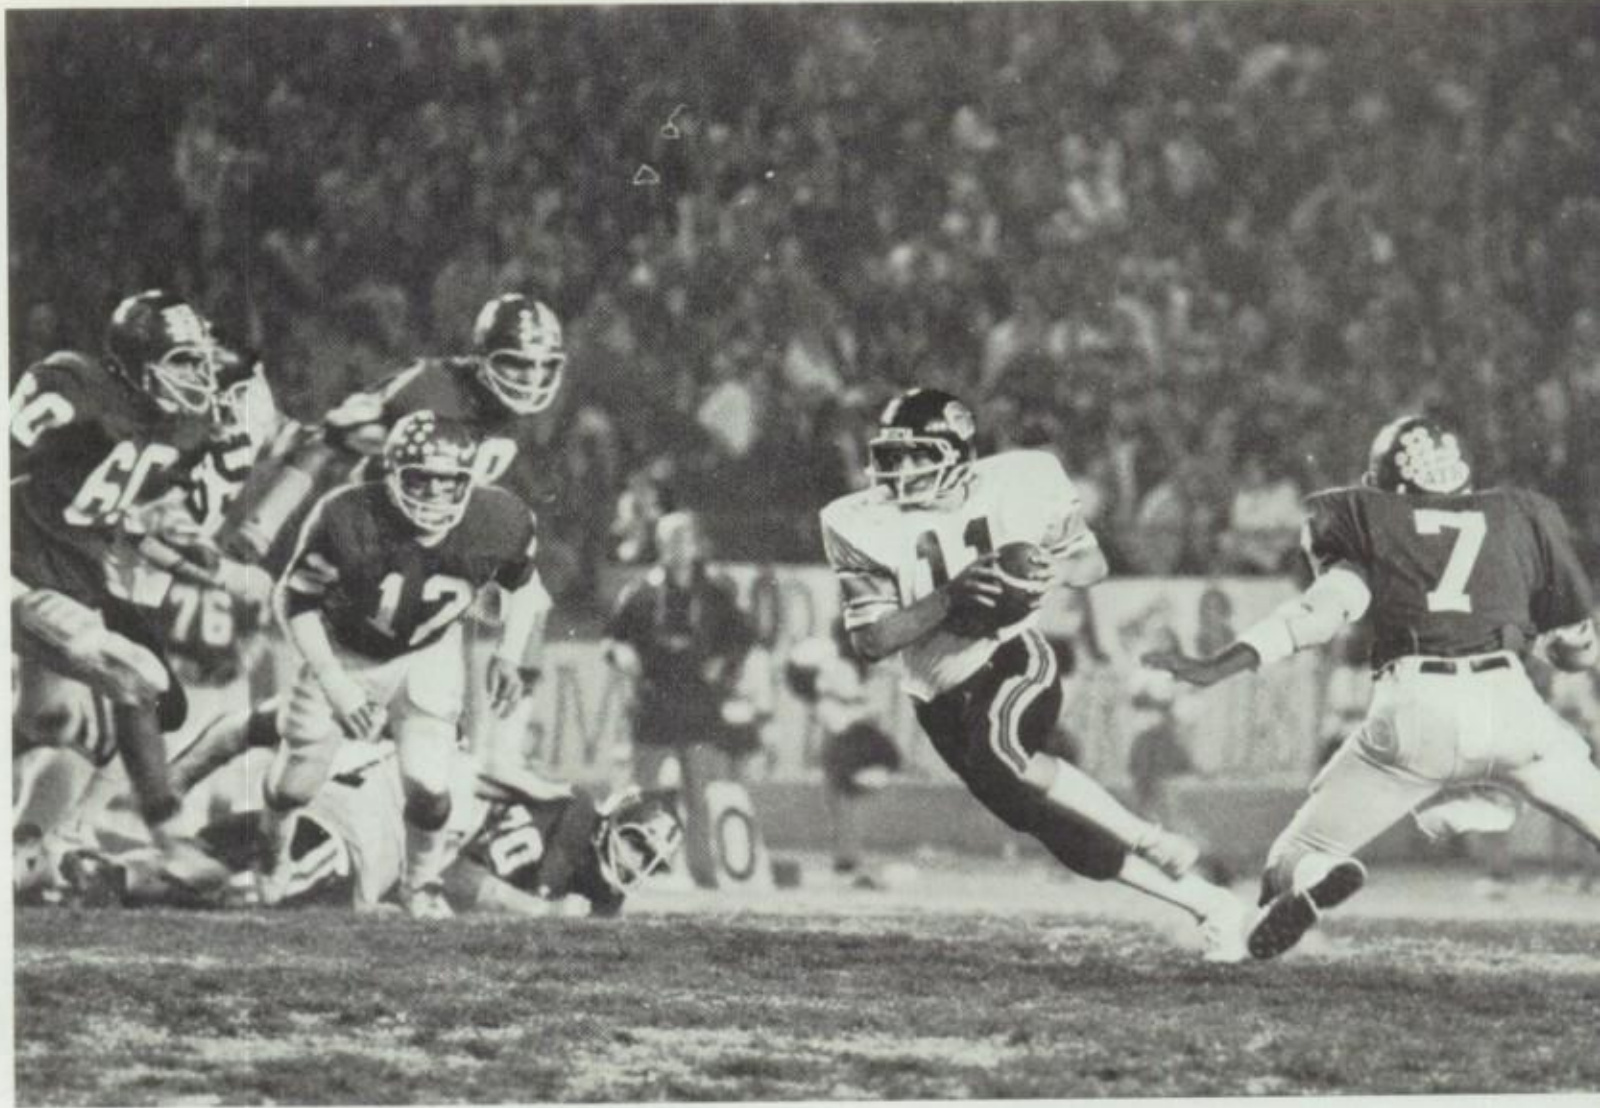

Football is a game of dedication, hard work, desire, and determination. This year's Del Rey League Champions had all of these qualities. But football is also meant to be fun, and this year was no exception. It started with Camp Week: after dinner entertainment and towel fights culminated in a racial brawl pitting the Wizard and his Klan against the ever-restless natives. At practice during the week, the ever-present call for white captains resounded throughout camp. A sight enjoyed by all was watching some poor fool getting unexpectedly nailed in the back of the head with a football, which seemed to happen with regularity. The conversation of the NOP's (non-offensive personnel) during offensive workouts ranged from the King and how to sneak into the Forum, to how we were going to drive home after leaving the La Marina Inn. During defensive practice, with the coaches all over our backs, we calmly and methodically went through our drills, while having fits of laughter on the inside. After practice we got in shape by running 40's, usually coming in 55th, 56th, and 57th on a team of 58. We catch up on our sleep while watching one of Uncle Bill's exciting movies before the game, and get psyched up for the game by sleeping under a table while Snead goes through specialties and Grudes decides which three running plays we're going to use that night. But when the time comes, we're ready to play. We do our best, and strive to win, for our school, our pride, and especially for the bus ride home. The wild bus ride back to Loyola after our victories brought on discussions about One Eye and his goat, Snead and his post-game meals, the "Da" and his appetite, Uncle Bill and his spiffy attire, and Grudes and his absentmindedness. Nothing can be said about the post-game parties, because nobody can remember what happened. Once during the season we went through a mentally trying period which would have caused dissension and disunity on most teams. But we overcame it, thanks to the Counsel and its guidelines, and to the Mad Dialers for enforcing them. A great season ended on a disappointing note, but we were all uplifted by the enthusiasm of the crowd and especially the spirits at the parties. This was a season that won't be forgotten, by the players, students, and especially the coaches. Although the season didn't end the way we had hoped it would, the way it should have, we all tremendously enjoyed the experience of being on a team as close as this one, and backed by a great student body and administration, and we will treasure forever the memories of the great times we had.

Well you know how it is,
everyone gets lanky once in a while - ~~but~~ I ~~will~~ ^{will} not be the same without you yelling at SNEAD. Hopefully
I see you at U.C.L.A. next

The Loyola High Basketball team compiled a 19-6 overall record and a 8-2 record in the Del Rey League for a 2nd place finish. The 1st Round C.I.F. playoff game against Simi Valley was won by Loyola in overtime 79-77. In the 2nd Round of the C.I.F. playoffs the CUBS lost to Pasadena 66-64, the eventual C.I.F. Champion.

Highlights of the year were a trip to the Jesuit High Tournament in Sacramento where they won Consolation, a 5th place finish in the Laguna Beach Tournament, and a 3rd place finish in the tough Glendale Tournament, which the CUBS lost a close game to Pasadena 62-61. All-League honors went to Paul Boken (Co-MVP), Cecil Morris 1st team, and Robert Chavez 2nd team. Morris and Boken were also on the All-Tournament teams at Sacramento and Laguna.

Other starters besides Boken, Morris, and Chavez were seniors Xavier Zamora and Steve Sanchez. Other reserves instrumental in the successful season were juniors Dave Eli and Renee LaVigne.

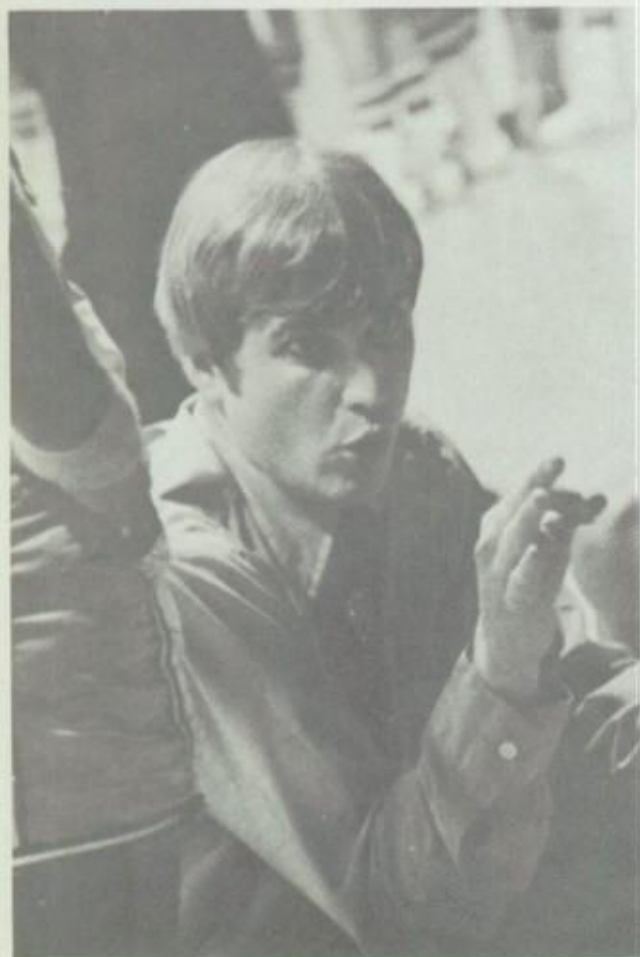

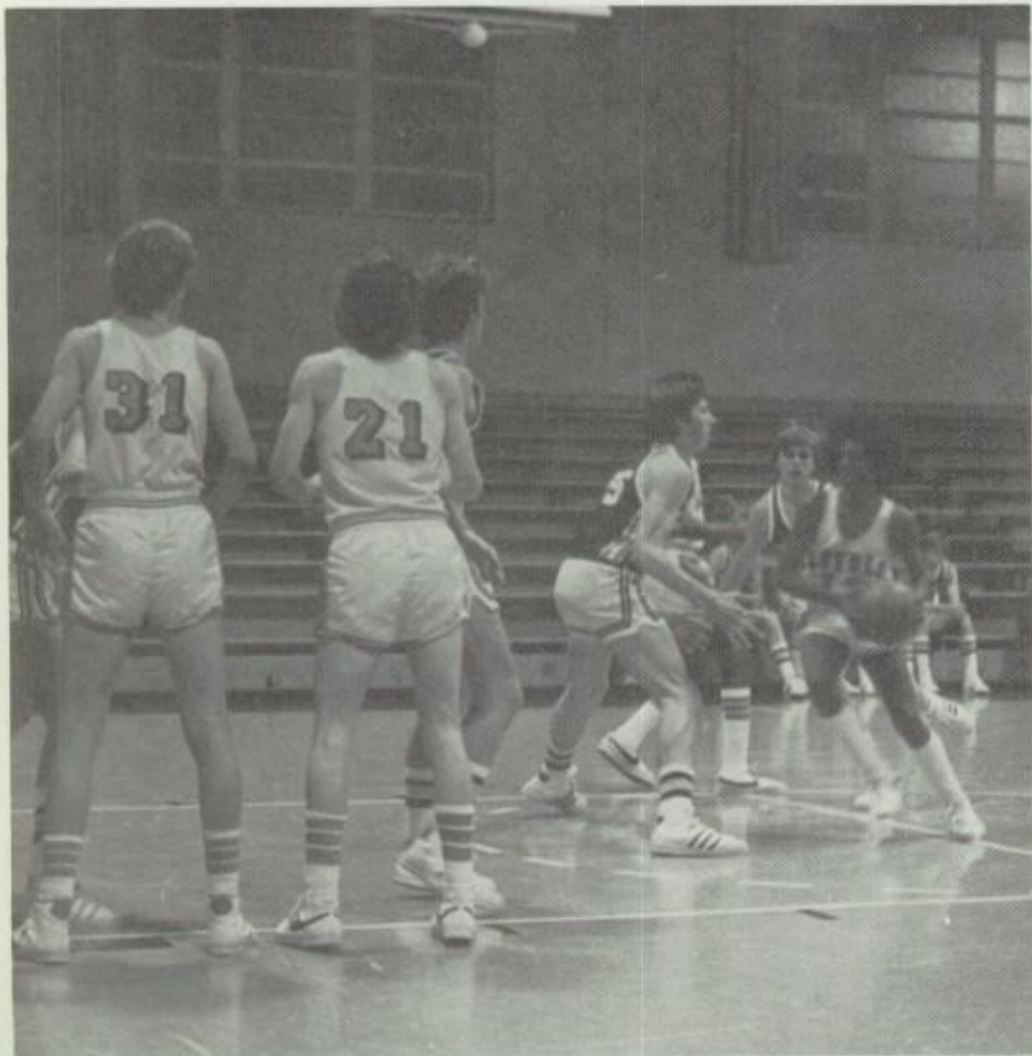

All in all the cub team was never beaten by more than 2 points all season, losing a total of 6 games by 10 points. This season ranked as one of Coach Bill Sanchez' most exciting and memorable ones.

1978 was a year to remember for Loyola's soccer team. It was a year filled with extreme joy and moments of sadness. The team led by coach Peter "Grandpa" Neeley was determined to perform the previous unattainable feats of former LiHi kickers. The first feat on the list of Neeley's Nuggets was the Alemany Tournament.

Alemany had been a tournament which had never been won by a previous LiHi soccer team. The team set its goal on the championship and refused to come home without it. After capturing its first game dramatically in overtime, Neeley's Nuggets proceeded to demolish its next two opponents with fervor; thus, gaining a birth in the final. Alemany, the previous champions of the tournament, were their opponents. Loyola displaying great team spirit and a relentless desire for the team medallions overpowered Alemany with a score of three goals to nil. In the end, Grandpa Neeley had "peterbilt" a very tight team which was destined to be the team to beat in the league.

As Grandpa's Nuggets entered the league schedule, they had not planned for one thing; Rain. The season was played under the constant interference of wet weather. It created mud-filled fields, disrupted practices, and postponement of games. Despite these adverse conditions, Grandpa's bunch continued to be the team to beat. Streaking to an 8-1-1 record and first place, there remained one week to play. This final week proved to be trecherous, with four games in succession. Grandpa's men fighting for the championship put forth their whole hearted desire for the crown but were unable to overcome rain, mud, and sickness. These Nuggets had shown to everyone that they were a team which could not be outclassed and a team which deserved the right to wear Loyola on its back.

TRACK

field

The 1978 track team overcame several setbacks to complete another successful season. This was due mainly to the patience of Coaches Jon Dawson and John Cecconi, who coached the team through torrential downpours and the flu epidemic.

Outstanding athletes in the sprint and hurdle races included seniors Larry Wynn and Steve Butler, along with juniors Phillip Kaough, Jonas Mack, and Daryll Cunningham.

The middle and long distance teams profited from the efforts of seniors Glenn Harvey, Pat Mantong, Dan Tormey, Pat Whalen, and Charles Foster. Junior Kimble Goodman displayed high athletic ability in league and C.I.F. competition.

Field events boasted added strength this year behind the exploits of Frank Antonioli in the pole vault, Marlin Thompson in the shot put, and Ricky Thompson in the long jump.

DRAMA club/ STAGE CREW

The Stage Crew and the Drama comprise the active driving force behind every stage production presented at Loyola. The Stage Crew is a collection of devoted workers whose job it is to manage the mechanical aspect of every play. The responsibilities of the production are divided among the Production, Prop, Lighting, Sound, Wardrobe, and House Managers, as well as the Master Carpenter. This year, as in the past, Loyola's Drama Club has striven for excellence and has achieved it, as was demonstrated by the superior productions this past season.

THE LOYALIST

The LOYALIST is published during the school year as an extracurricular activity by the associated students of Loyola High School, 1901 Venice Blvd., Los Angeles, California 90006. School Phone: (213) 381-5121. Newspaper Office Phone: (213) 737-9853.

Purpose Of Newspaper Defined

by John Gowey

One of the primary purposes of a high school newspaper is to inform the student body of current events, both past and present. This is accomplished through the news and sports departments of the Loyalist, which attempt to keep the students aware of the activities at Loyola, in the realms of administrative and student events.

Through reading the sports section of the Loyalist, a student should be able to discover how well the athletic teams are performing. All sports are covered equally, and the reporting of sports events, as well as news happenings, is purely factual. The sports section attempts to capture the flavor of the sports event in order to relay the excitement to the readers when the paper is printed.

Covering important events throughout the school year, the news department keeps the students and faculty of Loyola High School aware of the yearly activities. Administrative and student scandals are reported with surprising accuracy by the news reporters of the Loyalist, allowing the reader to sense the true importance of the event being covered.

Entertainment for the readers is displayed in the feature section of the Loyalist. Clever, innovative ideas are present in the talent-filled feature pages. Film reviews, record reviews, school polls and humorous articles, which are in the feature section, add greatly to the paper.

Developing journalistic skills is another purpose of the newspaper. Young journalists are taught to interview, report, edit, photograph, layout and pasteup as it is done on a professional newspaper staff. Students who are interested in becoming journalists are welcome to develop their talents through the Loyalist.

Loyalist Concludes Fifty - First Year

Concluding its fifty-first year of publication, the Loyalist staff reflects upon the year of fine work. Ten issues were published during the 1977-78 school year, which brought with it many exciting events.

Serving as Editor-in-Chief of the publication was John Gowey, who organized the staff and coordinated the paper. Pat Whelan performed the duties of Managing Editor and attempted to keep a hand in everything which was going on during the year. Pat greatly added to the quality of the Loyalist by exposing his fine knowledge of journalism and graphic techniques.

Fred Katayama and Michael Conley were the News Editor and News Associate respectively. Informative stories and interesting articles were brought to the attention of the student body through the news department of the Loyalist.

Entertainment in the form of film and record reviews, student polls, and humorous stories were found in the feature section of the Loyalist. Feature Editors Randy Heard and William Lockhart produced an extremely well-organized feature section this past year.

Sports Editors Jim Oswald and Jeff Kearin kept the student body aware of the sports events which occurred during the year. All sports, both varsity and JV, were covered equally. Loyola's eleven varsity sports were covered in depth by these men.

Junior Peter Coquillard showed an impressive skill for artwork as he adorned the pages of the Loyalist with his excellent graphic designs. Peter's drawings are unique and very well done.

Russell Cron served as Associate Editor for the past year. Stanley Tom photographed his way through the past year and provided the paper with very good photographs.

Members of the Loyalist staff anxiously await their next assignments; with pen poised and writing pad accessible, they appear prepared to tackle the rigorous task of writing for the school newspaper.

Undergraduate Involvement Encouraged

by Patrick Whelan

Amid the proms and the final examinations, seniors are forced to reflect upon many experiences over the course of 45 months. We have witnessed the legacy of a national football championship, the beginnings of a massive improvement of the campus facilities and the perpetuation of a tradition of scholarship.

But the achievements are accompanied by a multitude of problems which must be solved by the rising underclassmen. Where is the true manifestation of a dormant Loyola spirit?

The dilemmas they face are diverse in nature.

Eight seniors directed all of Loyola's major student organizations this year. The school leadership must be broadened through a structured student government.

Thirty-nine freshmen were on academic probation at the end of the first semester. A school-wide tutorial program is desperately needed to fill the gap.

Less than 10% of the student body participate in retreats, CLCs and the weekly liturgies. As a Catholic school, we must have an expanded campus ministry program that affects all students.

There are no freshmen on the El Camino or in the Pep Club, and only 3% of the Loyalist staff was composed of freshmen this year. We need a comprehensive big brother program for student-to-student guidance year 'round.

If true Loyola Spirit and Loyola Pride are to be realized during your high school years, then you, the underclassman, must make it a reality now!

WINDOWPANES

Seeking more student interest, the new Windowpanes moderator Mr. Steve McGrath has encouraged contributions of both humor and drama. All forms of photography, drawings, and writings are to continue the tradition of creativity in our literary magazine founded in 1965.

Pat Whelan — Editor

Members for the 1977-1978 Windowpanes include the following: Joe Martinetto, John Pregler, Brendan Obrien, David Claypool, Mark Ruchk, Mike Whelan, Greg Rude, Tim Ryder, Joe Nuccio, Greg Valtiera, Patrick Wolley, Mike Imamura, and Frank Navetta

Being a junior demands total involvement. It means dynamic growth and the resulting maturity in sports, activities, and studies.

CLASS

The senior is looking forward to future expansion. Ready for college, he has fully involved himself within the Loyola community to build towards new, greater horizons.

Richard A. Cooney

Voted Most Congenial Personality for 1978 —

We laughed with him,
We enjoyed life with him,

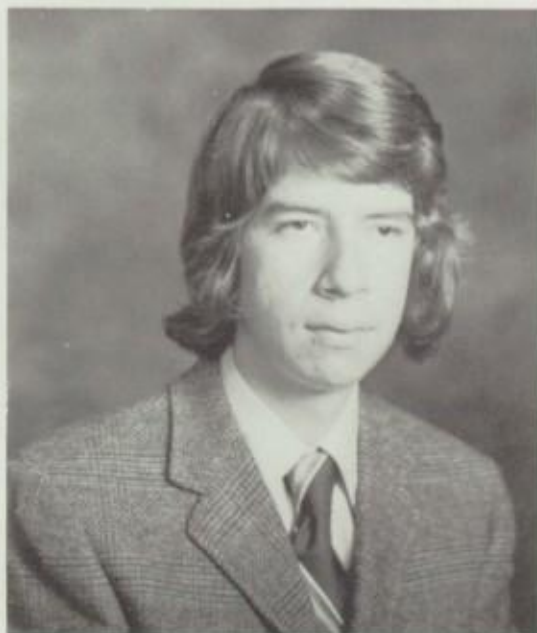

We learned with and from him,
We lived life with him,

And when he died
A little of us died with him.

Buck Rodgers

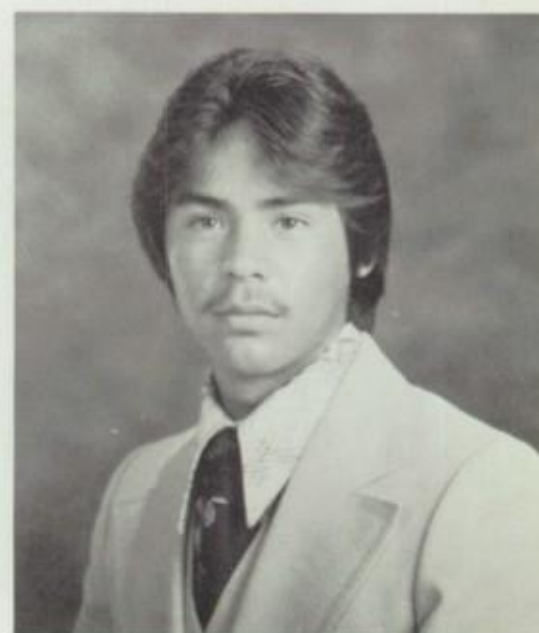

Joseph A. Antczak
 There's nothing to school. If you don't do your homework, the teacher yells at
 you. If you do it, everything's O.K.
 That's all there is to school!
 Wally Cleaver

Alfred M. Antee
 Spread your wings to Freedom
 erasing from your mind
 All the doubt you see
 Soaring like an eagle to you, victory
 Emotions

Carlos M. Arellano
 Those who think they know everything are annoying those of us who do.

Andrew M. Arizmendi
 I say "Farout— what a day;
 a year, a life it is!"
 Supertramp

John P. Arnerich
 When I look back on all the crap
 I learned in high school
 It's a wonder I can think at all.
 Paul Simon

Michael Wafik Asmar
 Life is like a freeway
 with no speed limit—
 I chose to drive the fast car—
 I reached my destination quicker
 but never got to enjoy the ride.

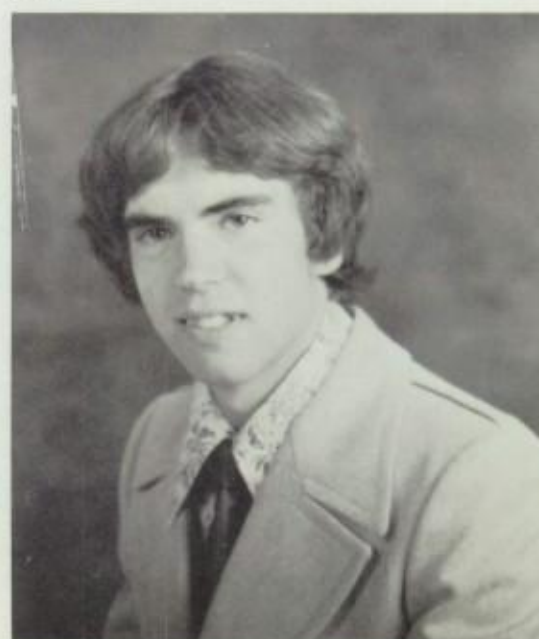

Benito Baca III
 To play this game,
 you must have that fire in you,
 and there is nothing that stokes fire like hate.

Christopher R. Baer
 Kiss today good-bye
 and point me toward tomorrow
 We did what we had to do.
 Edward Kleban

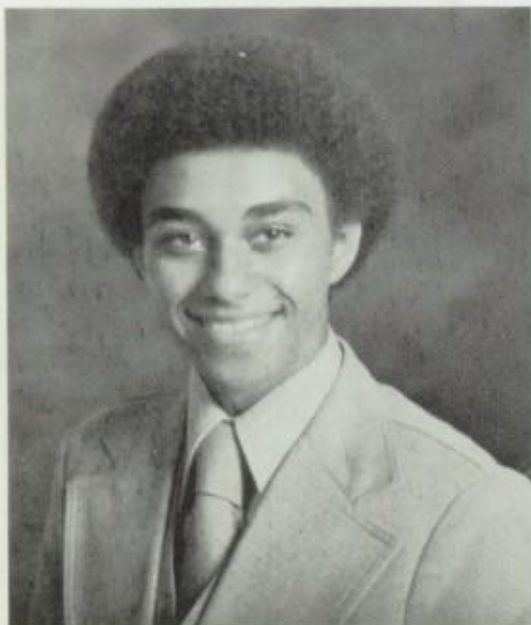

Kevin W. Ball
 I've seen all good people turn on their heads each day—
 so satisfied I'm on my way.
 Yes

Steven M. Ballard

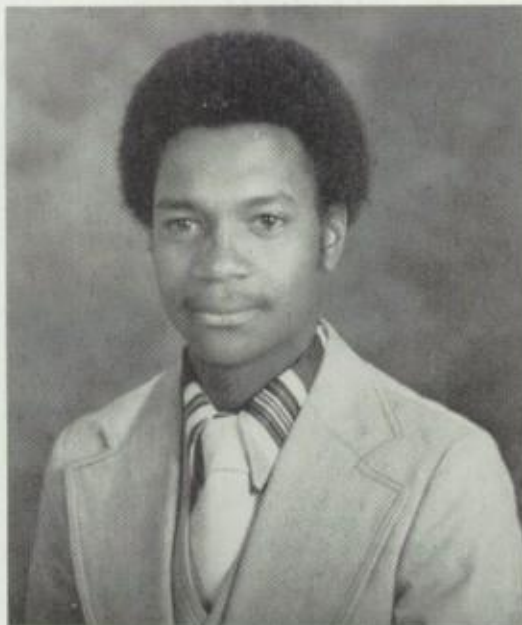

Our life is composed greatly from dreams, from the unconscious, and they must be brought into connection with action. Anais Nin

Lawrence A. Baptiste

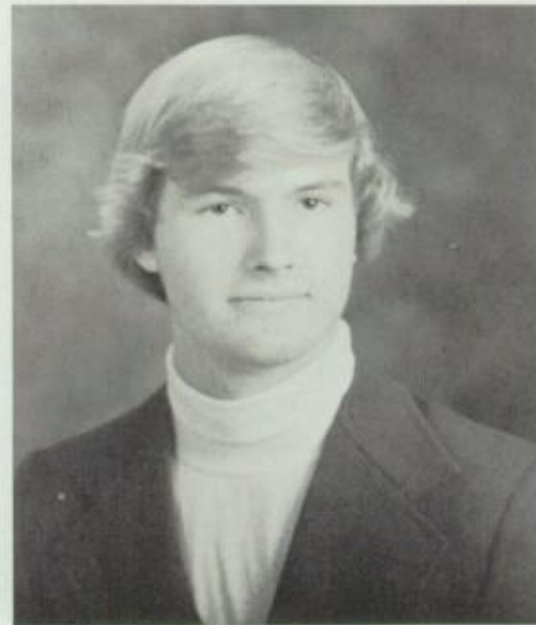

Man's character is molded by his parents but his mind is molded by his desire.

L.A.C.B.

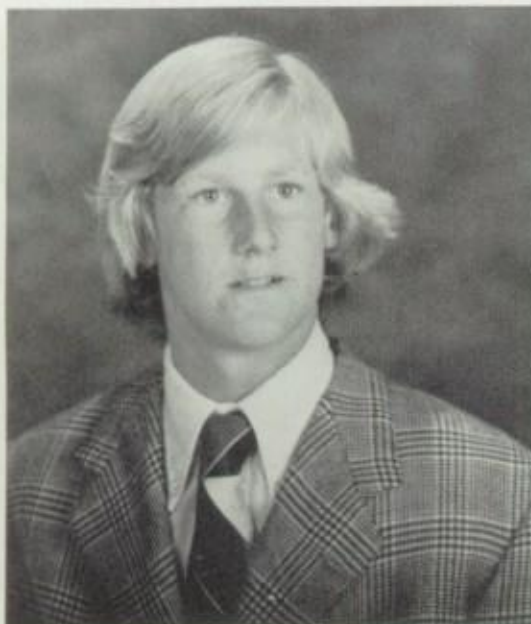

Patrick F. Barron

At first I wondered why somebody didn't do something, and then I realized that I am somebody. So I'm doing something.

James Michael Bannan

If it feels good— Do it . . .
If it feels great— Do it a lot.
A Doer

Tony Joseph Baumgartner

The years teach much which the days never know.

Reinhard J. Behrens

School at Loyola was like a 16 hour a day job. Homework was a hassle. But I enjoyed learning, sports, and being part of the community. R.B.

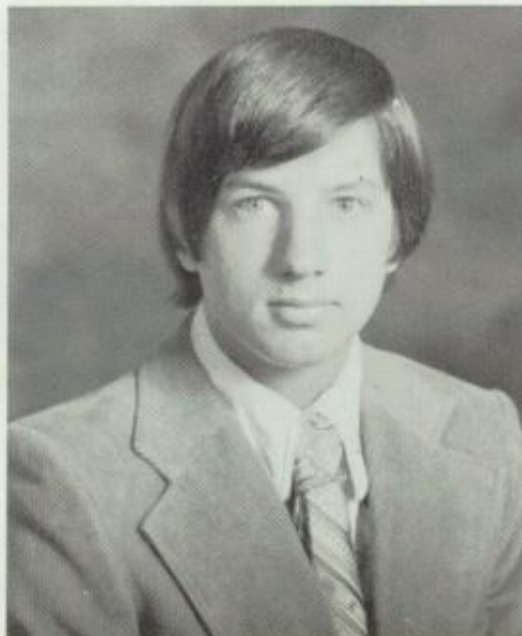

Paul Robert Boken

I do the very best I know how—the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end.
A. Lincoln

John C. Botdorf

You only go around once in life, so grab all the gusto you can.
Schlitz Beer

Michael D. Bowen

Half of us are satisfied,
half of us in need
Love bountiful in us,
tarnished by our greed

Harry Joseph Bowser Jr.

Of all the things I hold true
One I keep far above
A smile is worth a thousand words
The most profound of which is LOVE.

Danny Lee Brenton

It is better to deserve honors and not have them
than to have them
and not deserve them.

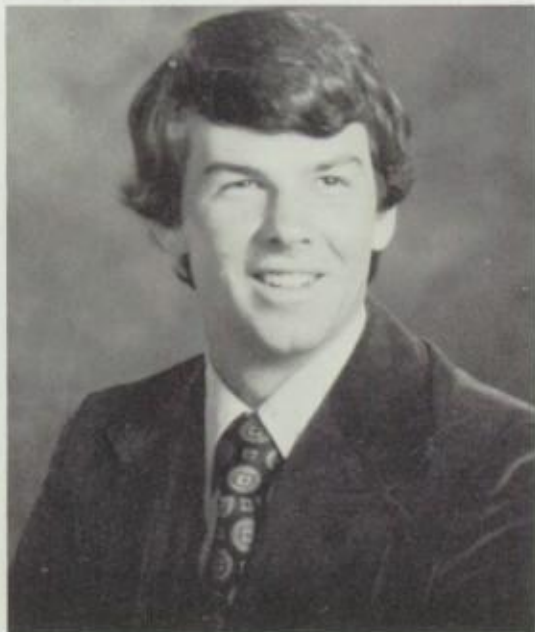

Joseph F. Bula

Sail along in search of the star that you can hold, and we journey far,
to where that star, may lead to.
Neil Diamond Thanks, Mom.

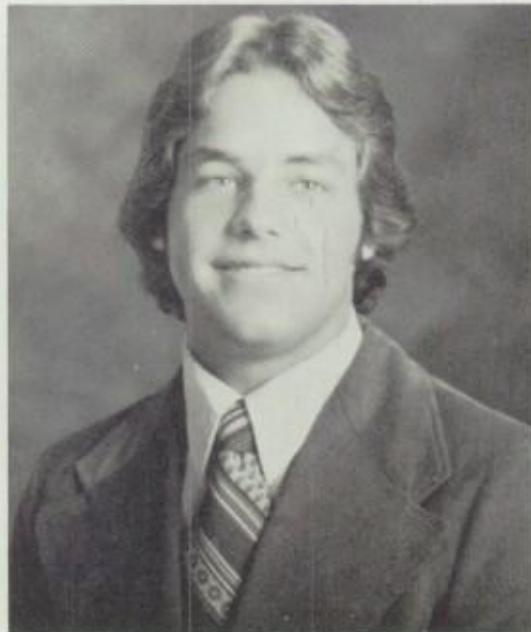

James Kevin Burnham

To all you mathas who I call friends—
I am glad to have had you with me cuz here we go again!
Ted Nugent

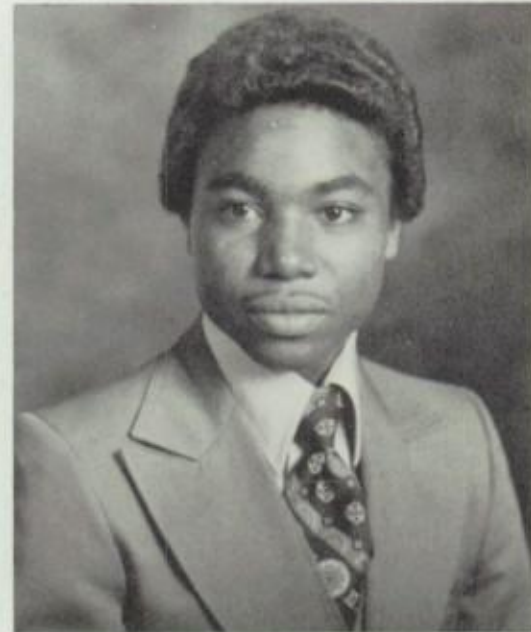

Walter H. Burnham

Everyone must have some thought that's going to pull them through.
While the fires are raging hotter,
the Sisters of the Sun are going to rock me on the water now.

Steven Orlando Butler

If life is what you make it, and your words reflect what is in your heart, speak with a lot of love and optimism or life will be hell on Earth.

Giovanny A. Cabezas

The harder the work now,
the easier it will be later.
G.C.

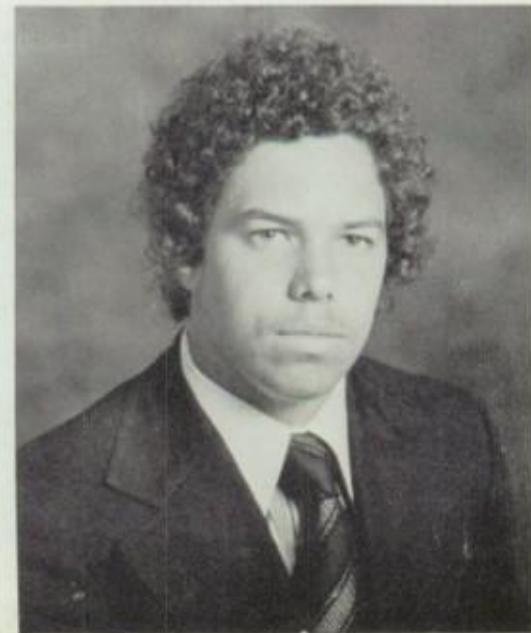

Daniel Bartlett Callaway

I was sad to come,
I'll be glad to leave,
So while I was here
I had me a real good time.

Philip P. Cambre

I'm searching for that silver lining, horizons that I'll never see,
I'd like to take just this moment and dream my dreams ...
dream my dreams.

John Glenn Cantlay

But it passes like the summer
I'm a wild seed again
Let the wind carry me
Joni Mitchell

Richard S. Cardenas

small things if they were not troubled by great ambitions.
Longfellow

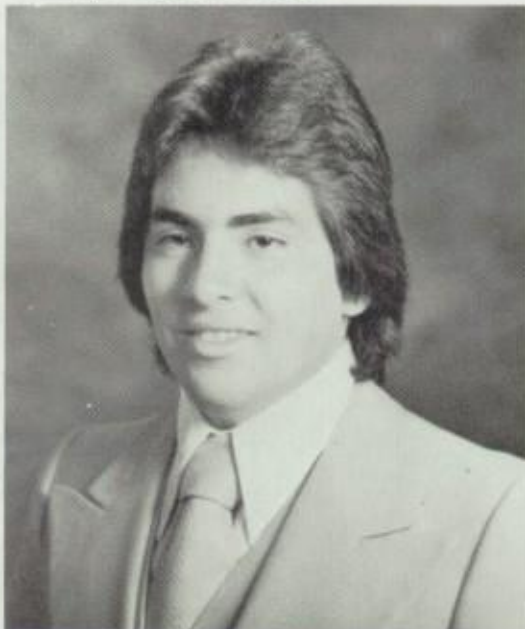

Bernard A. Ceballos

Love of learning is a pleasant and universal bond, since it deals with what one is and not what one has.
Freya Stark

Felix Ceballos

When we came into this world
we learned to live.
When we leave this school
we shall live from our knowledge.
Thanks, Mom and Pop.

no man becomes a fool until he has stopped asking questions.
Charles P. Steinmetz

Michael Christopher Conley

You can say that I'm your friend
And I'd like for you to be whatever you would like to be.
You'll always be special to me.
Seals and Crofts Mikey

Richard A. Cooney

Laugh and the world laughs with you,
and sometimes at you.
R.C.

Samuel Coquillard

... smile in your shock
as you hear my name aloud,
it's that face in the crowd
Didn't dig it—
I'm much too proud.

Ted Craddock

Let the disappointment pass
Let the laughter fill your glass,
Let your illusions last until they shatter ...
Jackson Browne

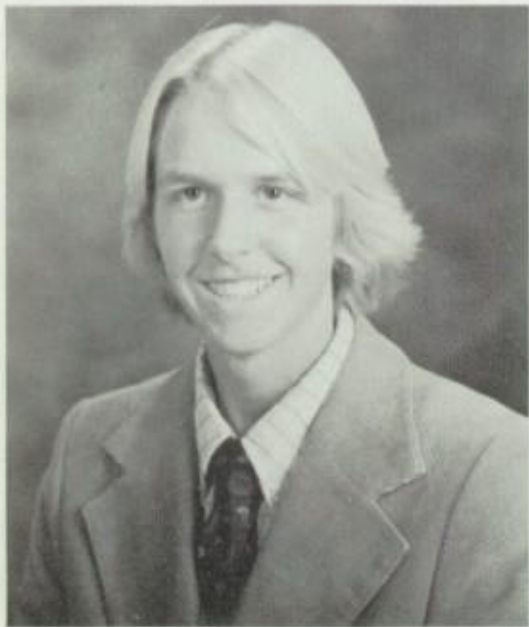

Russell N. Cron

Four years for most of us was not long enough. Over 200 students of nearly the same caliber strived for personal pride, made new friends, and most importantly, grew as individuals. Earlier views and opinions about our class were skeptical; as we grew, our respectability strengthened.

As freshmen, we were put downstairs and our lockers were eventually destroyed. We ran from P.E. only to be late for the Typewriting class of Bro. McDermott. As our class entered Loyola High School, we were 279 strong.

Our sophomore year took us to the third floor where we were introduced to Speech Class and the infamous Room 313 of Fr. Conn. From the third floor down to the basement, we ran to dissect the fetal pigs. Our sophomoric ways ended with the cludded, impassable third floor as contents of our lockers were strewn on the last day of school.

In our junior year, we were hit with a heavy academic workload made a little lighter by Chemistry with uh . . . Mr. Buschelman, Shakespeare's Ye Olde England with Mr. Davis, and the quick wit and humor that Mr. Adams blended with his Algebra 2 classes.

As the senior class, we can look on many highlights. The Varsity football team went to the CIF Semi-finals with All Leaguers, All-CIF players, and an All-American; the Prospective Black Businessman's Association was established; Mike Conley added great controversy and enjoyment through his new column; Pat Whelan executed an 18-page Loyalist similar to the Los Angeles Times; 78 of the 224 seniors had 3.5 G.P.A.'s or better; Paul Boken was the first Varsity Basketball player to have his number retired; many seniors received national, state, and city laurels for their perseverance and hard work throughout their four years.

As we close our fourth year at Loyola High School, senior square was one of our favorite places on campus. Here we grew in understanding, fortitude, wisdom, laughter, anguish, humility, victory, disappointment, accomplishment, friendship, and individuality.

Throughout the four years, the editors of the El Camino have kept an objective eye on most everyone at Loyola — the seniors, in particular. This year we found an unparalleled enthusiasm and creativity among the seniors. The editors tried many new ideas this year for you and our only hope is that we have made you prouder about being a teenager, a senior, a Loyola High School graduate. But most importantly, you have developed as persons — individuals achieving much in many different areas.

These past four years at Loyola are captured in Senior Square. We have been taught much. Our parents, teachers, friends, foes, and acquaintances all contributed to the many facets comprising the Loyola community. Amid confusion, tranquility, apprehension, security, familiarity, memories, praise, and friends, we matured as "Men for Others." Our Jesuit training education has led us to find meaning in this passage:

Yesterday is but a dream, and tomorrow is only a vision well-lived; but today well-lived makes yesterday a dream of happiness and every tomorrow a vision of Hope.

Thank you and good luck.
